PHILIPPINES CAMPAIGN IS TERMINATED

Gen. MacArthur Proclaims Islands Are Being Transformed Into Bases

SPURS TOKYO MARCH

By SPENCER DAVIS
Manila, July 5.—(P)—All the Philippine Islands have been won back in "the greatest disaster ever sustained by Japanese arms," Gen. Douglas MacArthur proudly proclaimed today and their 115,000 square miles are being transformed into bases "comparable to the British Islands" to spur the march on Tokyo.
In 250 days of campaigning, 17 American divisions whipped 26 Japanese divisions in "one of the rare instances when . . . a ground force superior in numbers was entirely destroyed by a numerical inferior opponent."
Roughly 420,000 Japanese were slaughtered, including such hated outcasts as the 13th Imperial Division which tortured American and Filipino prisoners in the "death march" after the 1942 fall of Batavia.

Milton Eisenhower, above, brother of Gen. Dwight D. One of the country's top food experts, he was given post by new Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Impromptu Independence Day Celebration Much Enjoyed; Passes Without Accident

This was the morning after July 4th and all through the county many suffered from faltering steps and keen, shooting pains in the cerebellum which were only relieved by liberal use of bromo-seltzer and alka-seltzer in liberal libations. It was all probably due to the craning of necks to see the exploding bombs, scattered showers of livid, vari-colored sparks in the air. At least, that is as good a story as any.
But, all in all an 'no foolin', for an impromptu, hurry-up celebration it was not too bad. The weather man cooperated 100% and turned on the rays of Old Sol in ne plus ultra fashion. Hundreds took to the weeds and along the streams for picnics in which the good old baked bean, macaroni salad and lemonade functioned with no drain on the red points. Chautauqua Lake also drew its share of Warren county folk and some few spent the day cultivating their victory gardens with thoughts of independence days next fall when the points are high and canned goods scarce.

AMERICANS' RADIO DARE UNANSWERED

Hour-Long Challenge of Fighters Circling Three Tokyo Airfields Brings No Response
NEW RAIDS REPORTED

By AL DOPKIN

Allied Ships Enter Bay Of Balikpapan

By RUSSELL BRINES
Balikpapan, Borneo, July 5.—(P)—A Australian infantrymen struck today at the last Japanese footholds in Balikpapan, Borneo's major oil port, which already for all practical purposes is in Allied hands.
(Radio Tokyo insisted Japanese lines were holding and that an Australian attack spearheaded by 50 tanks have been repulsed with heavy loss. It estimated Allied casualties at 1,100 since the beachhead was made last Sunday—700 in the sea and 400 ashore. Allied sources have said casualties were light.)

Fires in four Japanese cities burned so brightly they could be seen simultaneously by returning B-29 pilots.
Two Japanese destroyers were hit in the Yellow Sea. Six Tokyo airfields were ripped. Everything from power houses to light houses was shot up.
(Three hundred American fighters and bombers striking from fields on Iwo Jima and Okinawa, made a twin air attack on Tokyo air fields and the port of Nagasaki today, radio Tokyo reported.)
(Two hundred Okinawa-based Lightning fighters and Liberator bombers pounded Nagasaki and the nearby city of Omura, on Hyushu Island of southern Japan, said the enemy broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.)

Prime Minister Of Australia Is Heart Victim

By EDWARD WATERMAN
Canberra, Australia, July 5.—(P)—Prime Minister John Curtin, 60, died today after a long illness from a heart ailment with lung complications.
His successor will likely be chosen next Thursday by the parliamentary labor party from Deputy Prime Minister Francis M. Forde, Treasurer Joseph B. Chifley, a former locomotive engineer, or Minister of External Affairs Herbert V. Evatt, Australia's recent delegate to the San Francisco security conference.

(A few hours earlier 100 Mustang fighters shepherded from Iwo Jima by nine Superforts lashed airfields north and east of Tokyo.)
(It was the second successive day on which the Japanese reported companion air blows against the two most important home islands.)
Photographic assessment was underway today to check the results of the greatest Independence Day celebration of the Pacific war.

Nazi "Scientific Starvation" Station Is Found In Bavaria

By A. I. GOLDBERG
Munich, July 5.—(P)—A Nazi "scientific starvation" station, whose grisly experiments on children and adults were claiming victims until only a few days ago, has been uncovered in Bavaria by two public health officials of the American military government.

AMG authorities announced last night that four German doctors and three hospital attendants had been arrested at the station in the Kaufbeuren area, 45 miles southeast of Munich. One woman nurse confessed killing 211 children, for which she drew an extra bonus of $3.50 a month, the statement said.
The station, masked under the title of a public sanatorium, was one of a series of systematic starvation and drug experimental laboratories scattered throughout Bavaria and Austria, the authorities said. Those who died were cremated.
Maj. Marvin Linick of New York City and Capt. Loyal Murphy of Memphis, Tenn., who found the Kaufbeuren station, reported that it housed 1,578 men, women and children on June 30, and a branch at nearby Irsee had another 468—all in various stages of malnutrition. Among the children found alive was a 10-year-old boy weighing less than 23 pounds.
Linick and Murphy said they found in an unopened morgue the bodies of men and women who had

Washington, July 5.—(P)—The house post-war military policy committee today endorsed the "broad principle" of universal military training in peacetime.
The committee recommended that congress enact legislation to put the program into effect, and that the action be taken during the present session.
The recommendation was approved by sixteen of the 22 members.
Committee members said only one member, Rep. Bradley (D-Pa.) opposed the recommendation, although five others did not sign the formal report.
The names of the five non-signers were not disclosed by Chairman Woodrum (D-Va.).
The committee, a non-legislative group, did not blueprint the form of legislation that should be enacted.

Acquisition of Newmaker Water Rights Gets Attention

Publication of the fact that the borough is negotiating for the acquisition of the water rights in the city held by Floyd Newmaker has roused much discussion. Generally the citizenry are in favor of the acquisition of the water rights, but many feel that the elimination of the mill race and mill pond would rid the city of many mosquitos, water flies and other pests. The stagnant water in the mill pond is felt by many to be a health hazard.

In the negotiations carried on by the special committee of the Town Council the whole area owned by Mr. Newmaker would be purchased including the dam in the Conewango creek, the 6 acres of land at the rear of the West Ridge Bus garage and all of the land covered by the millpond and the mill race comprising 6 1/2 acres.

The matter of price has not as yet been wholly fixed but it is felt that property owners who have lands abutting the race and the mill pond would be glad to purchase some additional feet of ground to enlarge their properties. The borough would also gain in the fact that the bridge across the mill race on Pennsylvania avenue near the foot of Liberty street would also be eliminated. This would save much in upkeep.

Filling of the mill pond would be quite a large job but there has been some suggestion made that a suction dredge could be installed in the river and the old race and pond filled in jig time. Such a dredge and crew would not be an overly expensive proposition and the gravel at the river bottom would make a much better filling material than refuse from off the streets of the city. The land at the rear of the bus garage could be used for dumping of street sweepings, etc., and if a suction dredge were installed a dyke could be gilled along that property which would avert its being flooded. Properly filled it would make an admirable site for the erection of city warehouses, garage and machine shops. The local is a central one and the property would be valuable.

Many are fearful that the dam in the Conewango would be allowed to fall into disuse but this is now visioned by members of Council. They feel that the dam holds a suitable stage of water behind it to keep the refuse floating down the stream from lodging on riffles which would be the case of the dam were removed. The dam has been in position for scores of years and serves a useful purpose in keeping the stream clear of refuse.

At the next meeting of the Town Council the price of the property and some definite action is expected to be taken relative to the matter.

Most of the assaults will be concentrated on five key cities, Tokyo, Nagoya, Yokohama, Kobe and Osaka, in the area indicated by huge bomb burst on map above.

Feature Story Pays High Tribute to Warren Booster

"Captured by the Indians" authored by Captain Frederick Way, Jr., of Sewickley, famed writer and historian of the Allegheny River Valley, feature story in the Waterways Journal just out, pays high tribute to Harold Putnam, new president of the Allegheny River Improvement Association, elected at the 48th Annual Meeting in Warren on the 16th; also to Ben Kinnear, president of the affiliated Upper Allegheny River Improvement Association, hosts at that meeting; Carl Fogle, of Kinzua, L. M. Lilly of Kinzua and Bradford, and M. H. Dearloff of the Warren Bank and Trust Co., Warren.

Describing in his vivid style the colorful and fearful ceremonial rituals during which H. A. Logan, head of the United Reining Company of Warren, and Capt. Way himself were adopted as members of the Seneca Indian Nation at the forest setting of L. M. Lilly's lodge on Sugar Run the evening of the A. R. I. A. meeting, he comments on the real significance of these seemingly incidental events: "In a sense," says Capt. Way, "these were shenanigans, the backwash of a serious convention. In a larger sense, easy to grasp in the lap of a primitive forest setting, this ritual was as honest as any Presbyterian communion service. The Indians were serious. Without a doubt in the world a figurative thundercloud appeared over plans for any super-dam in the upper Allegheny. I had not thought it possible. This was short-sighted on my part, for the history of the Allegheny is one of the unexpected reactions, unpredictable events, and novel experiences. A big dam in any other watershed of the Mississippi system might easily be a matter of engineering and blueprints. Up here in the valley of Complanter and Seneca tribes, it might easily switch to a national issue with repercussions extending to Louisiana and Texas.

Capt. Way says further: "The convention of the Allegheny River Improvement Association had been concluded at Warren, Pa. Barely three hours before. The prime note of the meeting was somewhat spirited pro-and-con regarding the proposed super-dam 150 feet high, projected for the upper Allegheny watershed which x x x will back up a lake of water covering some 21,000 acres. Among other things such a lake would drown out much of the Seneca reservation in the southwest corner of New York state. I had heard that the Indians were already grumbling about the idea, but I vaguely sup-region for its economic prosperity and survival in the immediate future, the preservation of recreational advantages and the beauty of the Kinzua Valley, the preservation of the rich oil and gas, timber and agricultural resources which flooding that valley would destroy—the national interest in through waterway transportation for national defense—and the national interest in through waterway transportation up the Allegheny for the national economy—was added the equally important matter of the inalienability of the tribal lands owned by the Seneca Nation protected by a series of treaties.

At the A. R. I. A. meeting Mr. Walter Howe, executive secretary of the Olean Chamber of Commerce, warned the small group from Pittsburgh who were urging the construction of the dam that when they tangled with the Indians they would really be tangling against it, since the highest courts of the nation had repeatedly sustained the treaty rights of the Senecas.

Many commentators on this interesting angle in the efforts to develop navigation for this region, find it singularly refreshing that at least one group of Indians are determined to stand on their rights against any threat to destroy their way of life by flooding out the lands that they have enjoyed as fishing and hunting grounds, where they have tilled the soil, and enjoyed the way of living that is dear to their hearts for centuries. The Seneca Indian Nation suddenly find themselves supported by a great number of champions who admire their spirit and agree with their objectives for the future of the unsurpassed Allegheny River Valley.

With the many communities of the Upper Allegheny actually and enthusiastically working for canalization of the river, supported by top industrial leaders, with sportsmen and nature lovers hoping for it, and with the Seneca Indians in favor of this development, and apposed to any super-dam blocking the river and flooding it, it seems that sentiment north of Pittsburgh is almost unanimous for the program of the Allegheny River Improvement Association.

The first theatrical production to obtain a run of over 50 nights on the English speaking stage was the comic opera "The Beggar's Opera."

Tidioute Boy On Missing List Is Safe

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Knight, 22 First street, Tidioute, have had a cablegram and two letters from their son, Sgt. Herman C. Knight, Jr., previously listed by the War Department as missing in action in the Pacific area.

His cablegram stated only that he was OK and a letter would follow. Subject to rigid censorship, his letters reported that the B-29 on which he was tail gunner was hit over the mainland of Japan, turned out over the ocean and the crew was picked up by a navy coast guard unit after bailing out. He did not explain the 16-day lapse between the happening and the time of his first letter, saying only that he could not write. He was uninjured, he said, except for a badly swollen ankle.

Sgt. Knight trained at Fort Myers, Fla., Clovis, N. M., and Kearney, Neb., before landing in the Marianas in February of this year. Based with the B-29 unit on Saipan, this is the third time he has been hit on a mission and the second plane which his crew has lost. He already wears the Purple Heart for a previous injury in action.

The Knights have learned from another son, S/Sgt. Robert, serving with the 69th Division of the First Army, that he is still in Germany. He has been overseas since November, 1944.

Iran's oil pools were known for centuries, but were not commercially exploited until British interests were granted a concession in 1901.

Keystone State Has Quietest Holiday In Recent History

By the Associated Press
Pennsylvania followed the nation yesterday in making the 1945 observance of Independence Day one of the quietest in history.

Despite the quiet, the Keystone state had ten holiday fatalities. Six were killed in auto accidents, one by drowning, two by burning and the other fell dead as he was leading a parade.

In Philadelphia, where the declaration of independence was signed 169 years ago, 500,000 jammed into Fairmount Park for a day packed with festivities. A fireworks display concluded the program.

Senator Joseph F. Guffey (D-Pa.), speaking at Pittsburgh, said the American negro has registered an advance in skill, discipline and responsibility which is "the most impressive thing recorded in the history of a single race."

Federal Judge Guy K. Bard, speaking at the dedication of a church amphitheater in Robesonia, said "I wish we were as certain of winning a lasting peace as we are of winning a military victory in this war. Peace is not negative or passive; it must be based on the good will of man."

None of Pennsylvania's 212 hard coal collieries were open as miners stayed away from work for the first holiday since Pearl Harbor. More than half of western Pennsylvania's soft coal miners took a holiday.

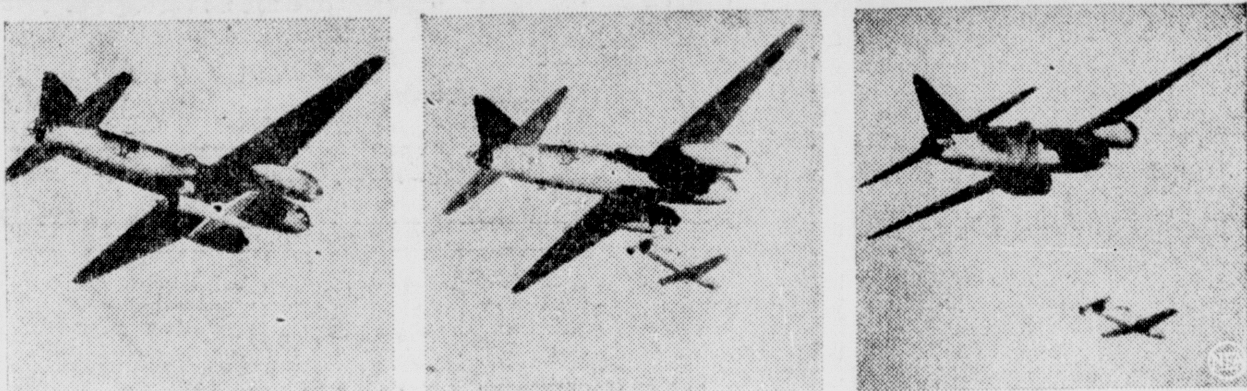

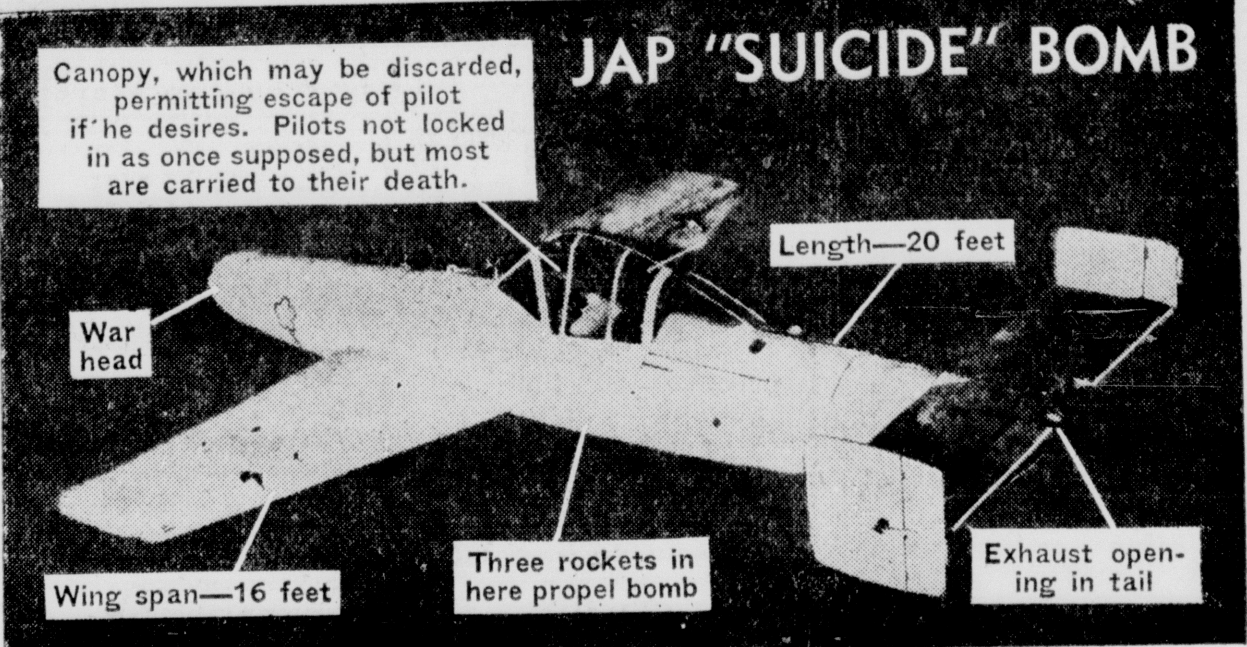

Most Pennsylvanians heeded the Office of Defense Transportation plea that they celebrate the Fourth at home. Bathing beaches within easy travel were crowded as well as parks and playgrounds.

THREE DIE ON CROSSING
Sharon, July 5.—(AP)—Three persons were killed yesterday when a freight train struck their automobile at a crossing in nearby Orangeville, Ohio. The victims were Howard D. Thompson, 50, and Thornton Gorman, 60, both of Sharon, and Mrs. Helen Fogel, 56, of Sharpshole. The group was believed enroute to Pymatuning creek to join friends for a holiday outing.

The Spanish conquistador, Francisco Arellano, discovered the Amazon River.

Bomber carries suicide bomb to point over target, then . . . releases it. Suicide pilot sets off rockets and . . . plunges into death dive, while bomber pulls away.

Picto-diagram and photos above illustrate how the Japanese flying "suicide bomb" operates. Yanks have dubbed it the Baka bomb—baka being Jap word for "stupid" or "fool." The bomb, which is actually a flying torpedo, is carried under the belly of a medium bomber and released over its target—usually a ship. Once free, rockets in the tail section propel it in its death dive at over 400 miles an hour. Warhead in nose explodes on contact.

Police Had Quiet Day Over Fourth

The holiday was a quiet one in the city as far as the police department was concerned. Investigation was made into the biting of Timmie Myers, 20 Buchanan street by a dog. The animal was evidently a stray as the officers were unable to locate it. The boy was treated by a physician and the dog and are still hunting it.

One dog was picked up on Prospect street and it was acting in a peculiar manner the officers escorted it to the garbage plant and sent it on its way to dog valhalla.

Report was made early this morning that Maxine Anderson, of Clarendon had not returned from Celoron and police were notified. They contacted the state police. It is presumed the girl missed the homeward bound bus and that she will be accounted for some time today.

Researching For You

By Mullen Drug Co.

History records no greater names than those who devoted their lives to the advancement of medical science: Osler, Lister, Curie, Pasteur, Banting and others, deathless all.

Proof that these brilliant benefactors of mankind have worthy successors among present day medical scientists is found in the discovery of penicillin, the sulfas, blood plasma. The laboratory and the great minds are constantly at work searching out new weapons to combat disease and death.

To the practicing physician go the findings of the medical laboratories—tried and proven in every case before the doctor puts them to use.

Equally fast to avail himself of tried and tested specifics to fill the doctor's prescription is the alert, conscientious drug-gist.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

(Editor's Note: Following are but a few of the many letters received since publication of the editorial Friday regarding a decision made by the local War Price and Rationing Board to an appeal of a discharged veteran of the war for gasoline. Space does not permit publication of all communications, but they will appear from day to day.)

Warren, Pa., July 5, 1945

More power to you. You gave the people of Warren County the chance they have been waiting for to take our ration board apart. You could not expect that outfit to give a home coming vet a few gallons of gas to take the girl friend or the wife and family out for a home coming celebration; if those boys had not done a good job over there these five and ten cent politicians would not have a job. All this O.P.A. amounts to is a pack of votes for this outfit called the new deal. Thank God for two things, free press and free speech. Everything else is rationed.

A Daily Reader
22 W. 5th.

I think the soldier you mention home on discharge should have a little gas if some one is willing to furnish a car they could not be asked to furnish the gas also.

But it's a one sided world our boys are fighting for anyhow. It seems the best talkers win elections etc.

Mrs. A. L. Kelley

Editor of Times-Mirror:

Just what are the boys of America fighting for, Hitlerism or Democracy?

The attitude of the O.P.A. towards giving gas to a discharged soldier suggests Hitlerism.

In my opinion the very efficient worker of the O.P.A. have overstepped their authority, which to them is so important, and I feel that they should donate their own gasoline ration stamps for the use of this discharged soldier. I firmly believe that if this soldier had been a friend or relative of an O. P. A. worker, he would have been given the gasoline.

When conscientious objectors at State Hospital, who are hiding behind religion, are given gasoline to drive their cars on for nothing but pleasure, surely a discharged soldier should be given some consideration.

Perhaps the O.P.A. workers would like to be discharged soldiers, after spending 2 or 3 years of their lives in some God forsaken land, it might do them some good. Maybe it would make them feel they are not God-Almighty.

Editor of The Times-Mirror:

I buy the Times-Mirror daily and never miss an editorial and I certainly was shocked to read your editorial in Friday's paper.

Something should be done at once to educate the O.P.A. in how to treat a discharged soldier. I have three sons in service, one has been all through the European war and his 108 points but being very vital to the war effort cannot get a discharge or even a furlough but I thank God he isn't here, to see just what condition his home land has got into. The Gestapo used to run Europe but the O.P.A. runs the U. S. and most unfairly.

When most of our boys that were spared to return get back I don't think they are going to stand being pushed around.

Lets treat our veterans right in honor to those who sleep in foreign lands.
Mother of three service men.

Editor of Times-Mirror:

Dear Sir:

After reading your editorial in Friday's Times-Mirror, I was very upset. I have three brothers serving in the armed forces, fighting and risking their lives to protect me, my children, you citizens of the United States. I certainly don't consider members of the OPA board as worthy citizens after fusing a soldier some gas with which to have a little recreation after all the suffering he has been through. While that soldier was overseas spending holidays in foxholes, starving for a sight of his loved ones at home, hoping and praying he would someday get back to the United States, what were the OPA members doing for the war effort other than to sit

NO SHORTAGE OF PROTEINS Let Milk Serve What You Need

Mothers, no doubt, worry more over the lack of beef in their children's diet because of the protein value they're missing rather than the taste. But your worries are unnecessary. For milk contains as much protein as steak, in addition to other vital body building materials. And what's more, children love it—in fact, every one loves our creamy, rich, delicious tasting milk. Be sure to serve it daily.

NO APPLES FOR GI JOE

Although it would be somewhat less than strange if men and women in the armed forces give thought more or less frequently to such subjects as post-war bonuses, pensions and other benefits, the typical GI appears to be making his own realistic and practical plans for his civilian future.

If he is hoping and expecting anything from the government in recognition of his war services, he still isn't staking his future on something that just might happen. He appears to be determined to be sure of something, and through his own foresight and efforts. He is doing what he can—and it is considerable—to make certain that he never will stand on a street corner selling apples.

The Office of War Information is authority for the report that 83 per cent—more than $4 out of every $5—paid to soldiers in the European theatre of operations is being sent home in the form of family allotments, insurance premiums, War Bonds and other savings. Obviously, an enormous reservoir of savings has been and is being thus accumulated.

What is GI Joe going to do with his savings? The Army has been endeavoring to find out through a letter contest conducted by "Stars and Stripes," the Army newspaper, and open to every soldier in ETO who has a War Bond allotment in force or has bought a bond since May 1.

Since prizes include 15 new automobiles, 15 electric refrigerators and 20 cabinet radios, it is unnecessary to say that letters have poured in by the thousands. And, in the aggregate, they paint an inspiring and encouraging picture of the soldier's plans for himself when he returns to civilian life. Let's examine excerpts from a few of them.

"An education for my five children and a home for my wife," reads one. "I am going to buy a couple of acres on a crystal, clear stream and put up an establishment of my own," says another. And, from some of the other letters: "Establish a small flying school" . . . "A chicken business" . . . "Study agriculture" . . . "Take a refresher course under the GI Bill of Rights and go back to teaching" . . . "Attend a business management school" . . . "Establish a dude ranch" . . . "Provide for the daughter born the day I landed over here" . . . And, in a great many letters: "Buy a home."

So, while it is too much to expect that all soldiers will return to civilian life prepared to go "on their own," a great many aren't going to have to ask anything of anyone. They doubtless will strive for, and accept, whatever they may consider their due. But, come what may, they'll get along.

If the day of the street corner apple should return, it isn't likely that the typical ex-GI Joe will be doing the selling. More likely he will do the buying.

MOST DECORATED CHAPLAIN

Erie Dispatch-Herald

The most decorated chaplain in the United States is a Lutheran minister from the Erie area, Capt. Edward K. Rodgers, pastor-on-leave of the First Lutheran church, Warren, Pa.

Although not too much publicity has been given to this brave man of the cloth, who is adored by the soldiers whom he served in Europe, he wears the Silver Star and two clusters; Bronze Star and cluster; Purple Heart and cluster. These, says a War Department notice, constitute the largest collection of decorations awarded a chaplain in this war.

He served in North Africa, Italy, France and finally went into Germany with the First Army. What we started out to say, however, was that recently he declared that this war has caused the destruction of much that belonged to the Lord, as he made a plea for a counter-attack in the mission lands of the East, in Europe and especially in the lands of our recent enemies.

"Christians, regardless of nation, look to their brethren in faith for help and encouragement," is the message that he has brought home from his services overseas, where he has seen our boys fight and die and has gone into the thick of battle to bring many wounded safely back within our lines.

All things considered, the men in charge of shooting the fireworks from Washington Park last evening did a commendable job. Many failed to realize that the fireworks had been in storage in Warren for almost a year, causing complications that were difficult and hazardous. Our hats are off to that small group who determinedly decided to supervise the shooting after it was learned that a professional shooter who was expected could not come to Warren. And Harry Summers and his school musicians deserve a word of praise for a fine contribution to the program.

Stamp News

THE inscription "Pax Homini-bus Bonae Voluntatis (Peace and Good Will to Men)" appears on 12 of the 14 peace stamps issued by Switzerland to mark the end of hostilities in Europe.

The words form the upper and lower borders of the 5, 10, 20, 30 and 40 centimes values which feature large numerals and on the 5 plus 10-c semi-postal value on which the figure "5" is the dominating numeral. An olive branch is featured on the 50-c value, a peace key on the 60-c, a horn of plenty on the 80-c, a dove of peace on the 1 franc, a plowed field on the 2 franc and flowers on the 3 franc value. Only the word "Pax" appears on the 5 franc stamp picturing clasped hands and the 10 franc value portraying the heads of an old couple.

BRAZIL features the shoulder patch of Gen. Mark Clark's 5th Army on four of the five stamps issued in tribute to the Brazilian Expeditionary Force that was part of the 5th Army in Italy. Values and designs are: 20 centavos, 5th Army insignia; 40-c, Brazilian Army insignia showing a snake about to strike; 1 cruzeiro, United States flag in original colors; 2 cruzeiros, Brazilian flag in original colors, and 5 cruzeiros, Victory "V".

THE design of the new $5.00 Federal Use Tax stamp for motor vehicles required after July 1 represents a departure from previous auto use stamps. Instead of the familiar Liberty Bell, the new stamp bears the picture of Daniel Manning, Secretary of the Treasury from 1885 to 1887.

GEN. MARK CLARK, says Post Office Department, took time during a recent visit to Washington to look over his stamp collection, which has been kept up to date for him in his absence by Mrs. Lena Shaven of the Office of the Chief of the Stamp Division.

RUSSIA has issued 30 and 60 kopek and 1 ruble stamps "picturing the road which the Hitler hordes took when they tried to conquer Moscow," according to J. and H. The same firm also reports that Spain will issue stamps honoring two Spanish fliers, Capt. Haja and Com. Garcia Morala, while El Salvador has issued three new airmail stamps.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Dan Culpin Gets His Second Wind

Dan Culpin got his plowing done in record time this year. He was sitting on his porch, enjoying a well-deserved glass of beer, while Bob Wirts, his neighbor, still had over an acre to go.

It turned Bob up, seeing Dan relaxed while he worked. So he'd stop and have a glass of cider—and make out that he was in no hurry anyway.

"And that was the trouble," Dan explained to me. "I kept on going till I got my second wind; and saved my rest until the job was done. He stopped to rest—and he never got his second wind."

From where I sit, there's a moral there for all of us. We've been working hard to win this war. A little rest may look awfully tempting. But by keeping going, by never letting up, we can count on getting our second wind that will overcome weariness and see us through to Victory.

Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—A column here a few weeks ago has resulted in some interesting mail. I have picked out the letter that best sums it up and raises most of the points to be answered. It is from Carl F. Hedenskog, Pueblo, Colo.

Mr. Hedenskog says: "I note with interest and envy your article in the Pueblo Star-Journal that we still have 125 pounds of meat per person per year.

"My bitter (sic) half says the average pound of meat takes eight red points. That means 125 times eight red points is 1,000 points. The allotment is 50 red points a month. Twelve times 50 red points is obvious (600 for those of you who read faster than you multiply).

"Perhaps some of the higher mathematics can figure out how the average person is going to get his share of meat, if he's doing a little cooking fat, a little pat of butter semi-occasionally, and a sliver of cheese with the apple pie—if she had the grease to make the crust.

"Seriously though, butter is 24 points; cooking fat 10 (now 12) points per pound. That leaves 16 red points and if one buys two pounds of meat, it's done for the month. Believe our nutrition experts would classify that as a deficiency diet.

"Do you suppose this might be one of the causes that make black markets flourish?"

TO THAT last, Mr. Hedenskog, the answer definitely is "YES!" You are also right in your reasoning about the rest of it. But in that other column, I was talking about something else—distribution.

Armed with your letter and others, I attacked the OPA. Here's their answer. In the first place, the "official" estimate I used for the 1945 meat supply came from other sources. The OPA says their "official" estimate on per capita meat supply for 1945 is 115 pounds, but that actually "only about half of that meat will move against ration stamps (for civilians)." These are OPA Administrator Chester Bowles own words.

He explains it this way: (1) Figures on available meats (this deals only with the red blooded meats—beef, pork, veal, lamb, mutton) are based on "carcass" weights. Shrinkage, trimmings, etc., take off at least 15 per cent before the meat ever crosses the retail butcher's counter.

In addition, millions of persons in this country get their meat in restaurants, hospitals, school lunch rooms, war plants, on farms, in stamp-free processed foods (soups, baby foods, pork and beans, pharmaceuticals). The black market gets the rest.

"Thus," says Mr. Bowles, "instead of 115 pounds or more on civilian ration points, it is likely that only about 60 pounds on an annual basis will be available at retail counters for the average ration book holder."

THAT, of course, still doesn't take into consideration the distribution problem I previously mentioned here. Mr. Bowles doesn't see how it can be made much more equitable, but he is very frank in saying that OPA is weighing every possibility of eliminating the black market and making it possible at least for the housewife to feed her family something better than a pound and a quarter of rationed, red-blooded meat a week.

As for the salad oil, vegetable compounds, etc., now under red points, OPA just hangs its head in shame. Strictly off the record they wish it had never been started that way, but think it's too late in the game now to change.

As I have said all along, Mr. Hedenskog (and you others who have written in) the situation is going to get worse before it gets better, but don't take all of it out on OPA. Sometimes it seems they can't add two and two, but often their problems are practically integral calculus, with almost as many unknowns as there are meat-eaters, product distributors, and members of Congress.

Sickle was a feature of entertainment at Sunday's meeting. Plans for a box social to be held later met with some discussion.

The bass season opened Sunday with plenty of fishermen visiting this immediate vicinity, many planning to remain over the holiday. One of the most successful of those out for trout was C. O. Beaton, of Bradford, catching 3 brown, one measuring 15 inches and two 10 inches; two rainbow, one 15 inches and one 13 inches. Reported caught at Cornplanter,

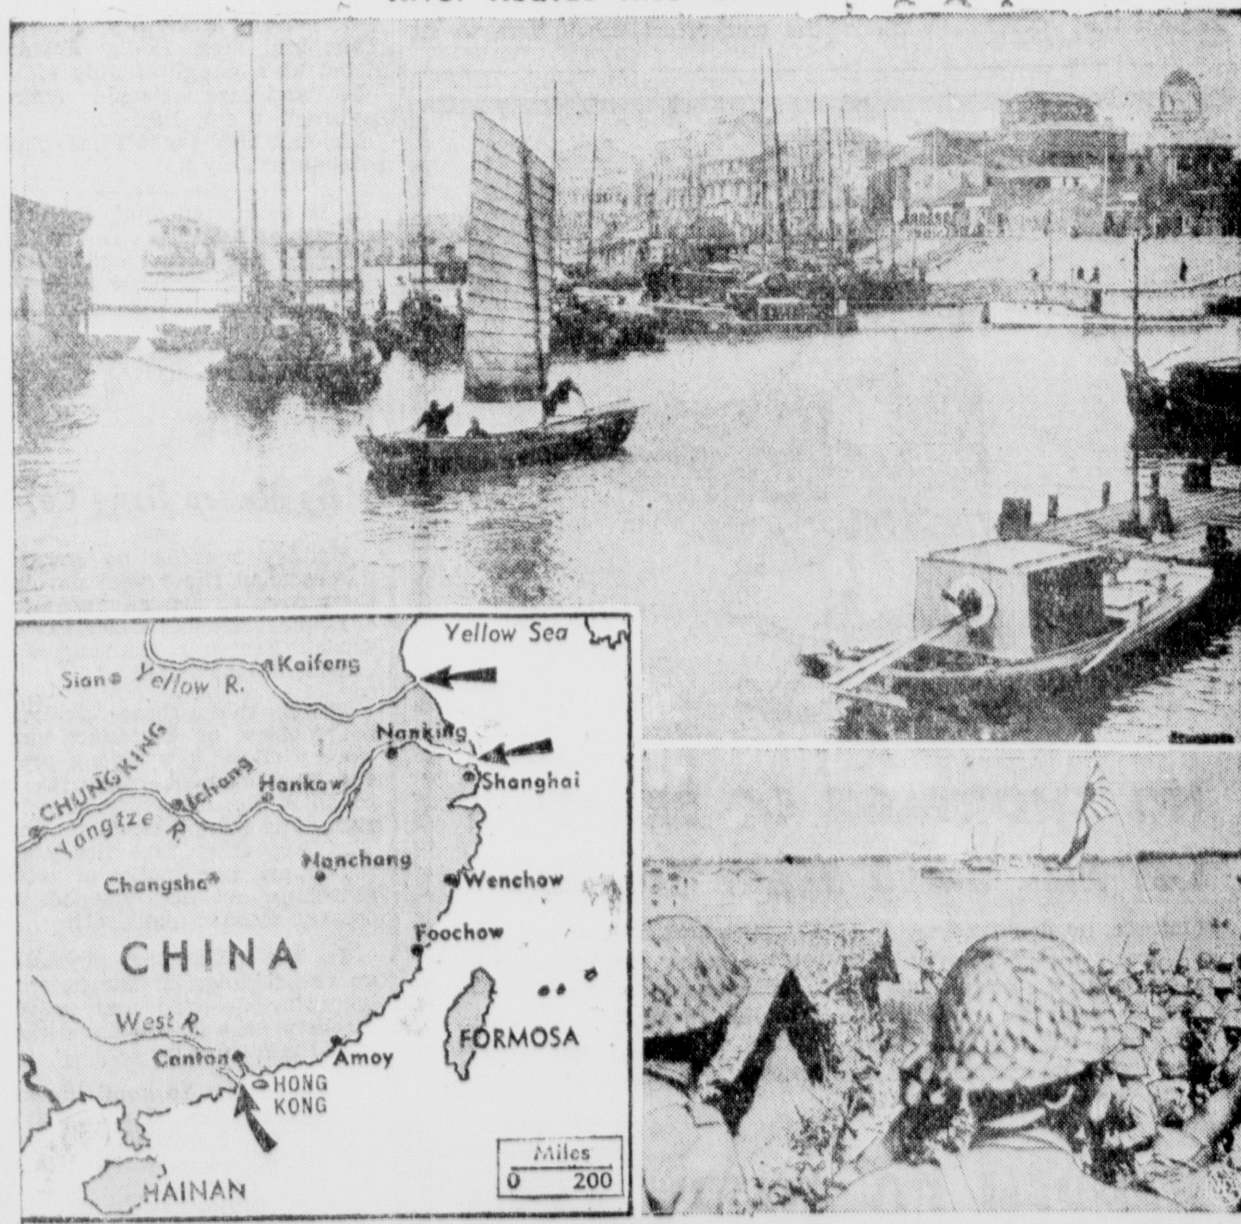

Mr. Beaton was assisted by E. F. Tome.

Man Your Battle Stations!

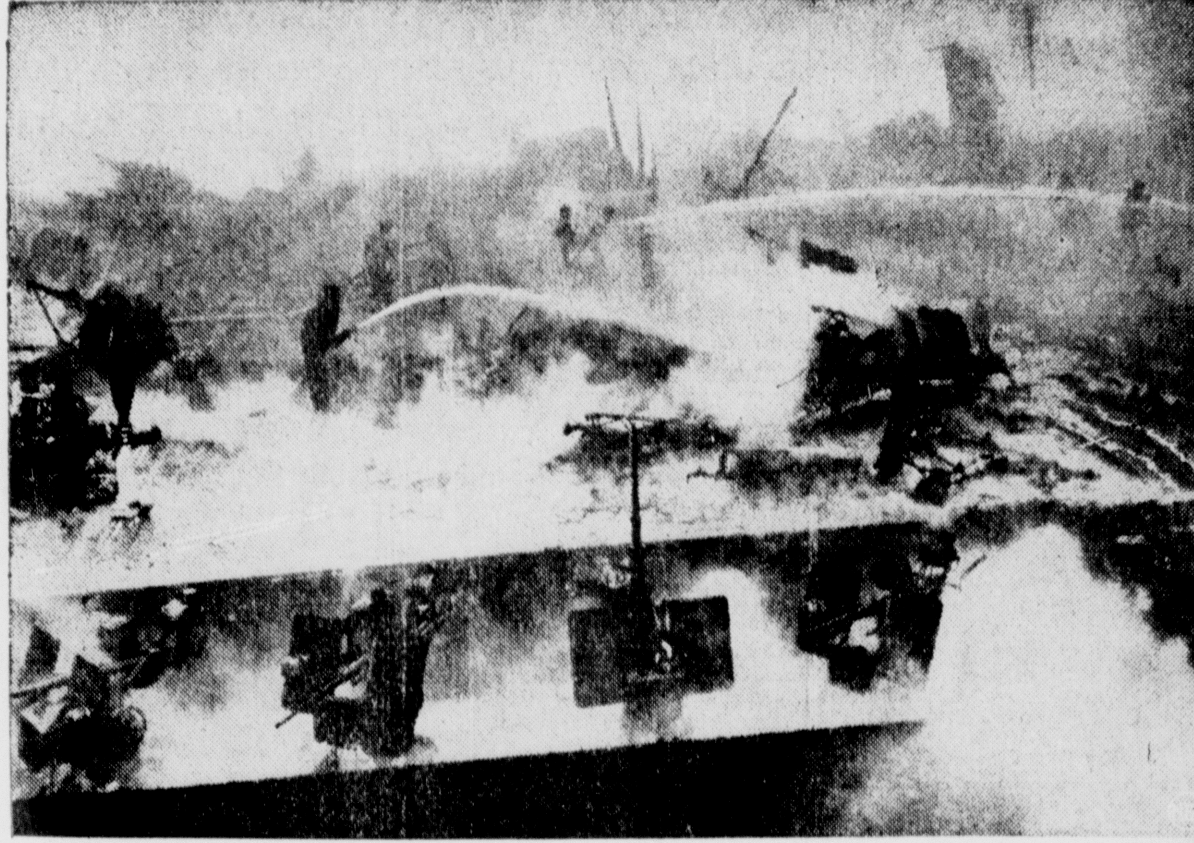

Valiant Crew Fights to Quell Carrier Fire

Smoke fills the skies as it rises from the flight deck of the USS Bunker Hill—another gallant ship that refused to die. The carrier was hit twice within 30 seconds by two Jap suicide planes just as she was ready to send off a flight of gasoline-filled and bomb-loaded planes on a mission over Okinawa. Resulting catastrophe cost lives of 392, with 264 wounded. Ship survived to limp into West Coast repair yard where she is being refitted for further duty.

With fire sweeping her flight deck and bomb fragments making an inferno topside, the U. S. carrier Bunker Hill fights back. Two Jap suicide dive bombers hit her on May 11 off Okinawa. Smoke is shown billowing from the stern of the ship while crew members hustle to man their battle stations against further attack.

Neither flaming gasoline from the tanks of planes on the flight deck nor exploding rockets and bombs daunted the valiant crew members of the USS Bunker Hill as they successfully fought to bring near-disastrous fire under control. Victim of an attack by Jap suicide planes off Okinawa, the carrier was saved to sail back—a mass of charred and twisted wreckage—to a West Coast yard for rehabilitation.

Carlson Wins a Commission Through His Valorous Deeds

From headquarters of the 32d Infantry Division in Northern Luzon comes word that a daring eight-day solo foray far behind the enemy lines in the Caraballo Mountains has won a battlefield commission as a second lieutenant for Lester A. Carlson, of Sheffield.

Carlson, who joined the Cavalry Reconnaissance Troop as a corporal radio operator in May 1943, is a seasoned veteran of jungle warfare, fighting Japanese all the way from Sador in New Guinea to Luzon. In four operations he spent 195 days scouting and patrolling far inside enemy territory.

In May 1944, he went ashore with the reconnaissance unit at Yalva plantation in New Guinea in a pincer movement designed to cut off the Japs retreating up the coast from Sador, where elements of the 32nd, Red Arrow Division had landed in January. Moving inland after the landing, Carlson spent five weeks harassing the retreating Japs. In June the troops moved to Aitape, where Carlson, with a small patrol, made the deepest penetration by U. S. troops into the jungle-clad New Guinea mountains ever recorded to that time. For eight weeks the patrol watched the Japs and, upon returning, brought back a store of vital information on native trails which more than 40,000 Japs were attempting to use as an escape route past the American beachhead. Three months after the Aitape operation ended, Carlson arrived on Leyte.

He then began a seven-week patrol behind the Jap lines, one which proved the most hazardous so far. For the first time the reconnaissance troops suffered fatal casualties, among them Carlson's close friend, Capt. Herman Bottscher (then troop commander), the famed German-American anti-Fascist hero of the bloody Buna battle.

Aside from casualties and different terrain, it was on Leyte that Carlson and the troop proved themselves one of the finest reconnaissance units operating in the Pacific. They sent back information on a Jap ammunition dump, anti-air positions and troop concentrations. When radio communications were impossible, Carlson and others would disrupt Japanese defenses by destroying bridges and harassing their supply lines.

When the 32nd Division moved to Luzon in January, 1945, Carlson had risen to the rank of staff sergeant. Once again he went deep into enemy positions, only this time he was in charge of patrols. His work during previous operations had not gone unnoticed, officers and men recognizing in him the shrewdness and ability that makes a good leader, and this confidence being sustained in the latest of his exploits. Air liaison planes had reported a large movement of enemy troops near the town of Baguio, Philippine summer capital, upon which two American divisions were closing in on opposite sides.

Carlson was given a 15-man patrol and sent out to scout the reported movements. Half way to their destination, the group was ambushed, one man was wounded and a withdrawal forced. Carlson saw that the only chance of reaching the objective was alone, so he returned the patrol to an American outpost and without a word of his intentions, set off for Baguio. After a hazardous trip through thickly held Japanese positions, he reached a rock mountain slope overlooking the enemy area. For eight tedious days he watched the Japanese. His food was only what he could secure for himself. The complete and accurate information he brought back with him enabled U. S. forces to drive forward and occupy the city. Throughout his four operations he has been instrumental in destroying either by personal combat or directing artillery fire more than 500 Japanese soldiers.

LT. Carlson holds the Silver Star Medal, the Philippine Liberation Medal and the Asiatic-Pacific theatre ribbon with two battle stars.

As a civilian he was employed in the foundry division of General Electric at Erie. He is the son of John A. Carlson, Sheffield.

He is a veteran of the Aitape, Morotai and Leyte operations, and saw action in the Villa Verde-Santa Fe area in northern Luzon, where the 32nd killed more than 9,000 Japanese during its 119-day drive up the tortuous Villa Verde trail in the Caraballo Mountains.

OH WELL—maybe our dealers don't really honor us with parades. But as far as we can find out, they're pretty darned pleased with our efforts to keep them supplied with Pabst Blue Ribbon.

And if there isn't always enough to go around—it's just because so many folks have discovered the extra-special flavor of this truly great beer. So, if you can't always find Pabst, the blended beer, ask again next time, won't you?

Sgt. Motz Is Awarded The Bronze Star

With the 28th Infantry in Germany—Sgt. Paul H. Motz, of Warren, has recently been awarded the Bronze Star Medal by Major General Norman D. Cota, commanding general of the 28th "Key-stone" Division, for meritorious service throughout his combat career.

A fighting cook, Sgt. Motz brought food up to the men in the line at designated times regardless of mined roads, snipers and artillery fire. And when Von Runstedt's hordes broke through in Belgium, he went into the line and fought as a rifleman, helping his buddies throw the West-macht hopelessly off schedule.

During the Normandy hedgerow campaign, Sgt. Motz often had to leave his field kitchen in order to hunt down enemy snipers who were intent upon disorganizing installations just behind the firing line. Every night he made the rounds of the foxholes, distributing rations and mail. More than once he set up his kitchen under fire, cooked while shells came whistling in, and served hot "chow" in spite of the snipers "pecking away" at him.

Sgt. Motz was among the thousands of 28th men who staged the famed "tactical parade" through Paris last August 29, thus marking the French capital's liberation while the infantrymen were still hounding the heels of the retreating Germans. Later he participated in the liberation of Compiègne, where the Armistice of the last war was signed.

When the Keystone Division was thrusting at the Siegfried Line in the bloody Hurtgen Forest sector, Motz drove a jeep-load of feed, mail and supplies to the forward positions under the fiercest artillery barrage ever encountered on the western front, and drove back with a load of wounded.

At dawn, December 16, 1944, Von Runstedt launched his massive counter-offensive in Belgium. The 12th Infantry hurried back the foe for two days, but Sgt. Motz's outfit, Company "I", was surrounded from the outset. The Nazis made one mistake. They overran and destroyed the company kitchen.

Sgt. Motz killed three supermen personally, then teamed up with other cooks and specialists to capture 35 more Germans.

Rifleman Motz did not get an other kitchen until mid-January, when the 28th Division, having successfully counterattacked, was withdrawn from Belgium and sent to Alsace, France.

There he resumed his job of getting food up to the doughboys, when they completed the tough job of liberating Colmar. Later, Sgt. Motz crossed the Rhine near Cologne when the 28th went up north again to join in the First Army's final victory drive.

The Warren veteran is a graduate of Sugar Grove High School. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Motz, live on Route 2, Warren. Two brothers, T. J. Harold A. Motz of Ordnance, and Cpl. Leroy C. Motz, of the Engineers, are serving with the Army in Europe.

Interesting Facts
Concerning China

The regular monthly meeting of the First Methodist WSCS was held in the nature of a tureen dinner in Founders hall with a good attendance. Mrs. Earl Fenderson, chairman, and her committee in charge of the arrangements has decorated tables attractively with candles, roses and other seasonal flowers.

A brief business meeting followed in Dunham parlors, with Mrs. H. G. Andrews presiding, and Mrs. J. J. Garber leading in an inspiring devotional period of scripture reading and prayer. Several read appropriate prayers from "Chinese Christians" and all joined in singing the hymns "Come Thou Almighty King" and "O God, Our Help in Ages Past". Mrs. A. L. Stevens sang two beautiful vocal numbers, with Evelyn Wolsten-croft playing her accompaniment. Speaker of the evening was Mrs. Elizabeth Helmbold, of Philadelphia, who in 1935, visited her missionary sister, Margaret Rew, in Wushu, China, which is about half way between Nanking and Shanghai. She said in the two years she spent there the Chinese felt that war was imminent and only a matter of time, but China was never to be conquered. She said America is the greatest nation in the world today, but along with that designation goes a great responsibility. China has one-fifth of the population of the world and one-third of the sightless people live in China, a great social work having been established for caring for their own blind and for their relocated people since the war.

She also dwelt on the numerous gifts China has made to the western world, including tea, porcelain, the folding umbrella, compass, playing cards and other amusing games, such as dominoes, lacquer, the ginkgo tree, copper, zinc, kites, wallpaper, minerals and, last but not least, the greatest gift of all—silk. She reminded that when Rome was set at her height of glory, China had a caravan route there supplying all her silk, the silk industry dating back to 400 B. C. She related that practically every home in China, rich and poor alike, raises cocoons.

China has the finest child labor laws in the world but they are not enforced, since little girls as young as eight and ten years work in the silk mills sorting cocoons from 4:30 a. m. to 6:30 p. m., with only a half-hour rest period. The next age group, the "beat the basin" girls, place the cocoons in the hot water which prepares them for spinning, while the older girls place the cocoons for spinning. One cocoon, she said, makes from 400 to 500 yards of silk thread. With these girls who labor so faithfully in the silk mills, Mrs. Helmbold's sister worked, teaching them how to care for their babies, the Bible, home hygiene and health.

Fourth of July, 1777

A gala dinner at Philadelphia's famous City Tavern marked Congress's celebration of the first anniversary of independence on July 4, 1777. Civil and military authorities were the principal guests of our first national legislators. The music, ironically, was by Col. Rahl's Hessian Band, captured at Trenton the previous Christmas Eve.

City Tavern

The City Tavern, center of the Independence Day celebration, was renowned not only for its excellent food and ale, but had figured prominently in revolutionary affairs since its opening in 1773.

Delegates to the first Continental Congress held their preliminary meeting at the City Tavern on September 4, 1774, before going to Carpenter's Hall for their first formal session.

Thomas Jefferson took his meals at this inn while writing the Declaration of Independence. And, of course, George and Martha Washington were frequently entertained there.

The Tavern, located at Second and Walnut streets, eventually gave way to a business building.

McCall Patterns—Hat 1071, Bag 1115, Pinafore 6073
SHEET PARADE: This proud junior models hat, pinafore and bag made from sheets at AWVS style show in New York

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor
Mothers of teen-aged daughters will do well to keep a close watch on their linen closets this summer. For the girls have discovered what wonderful dresses, blouses, dirndls, hats and pinafores can be made from old sheets.
The sheet-salvage idea is just a part of the AWVS National Junior Sewing Project, started in New York with an enrollment of 1,200 girls, and now being launched nationally in 200 AWVS Junior Auxiliaries throughout the country.
Practical instruction accompanies the project in each community, as girls are taught such useful items as how to make a new dress in 57 minutes flat—how to remake an old evening dress into a midriff play suit... how to make matching hats and gloves... how to make a dress from a sheet. The juniors are being encouraged to make their own clothes and put their savings in war bonds. And they're having a wonderful time.

Many of the girls are making complete teen-age wardrobes, consisting of twelve garments and accessories. Fashion shows displaying their handiwork are a part of the program.
The "sheet fashions" were exhibited in a recent New York showing, where girls modeled the clothes they had made after raiding the linen closets. Sheets are torn down the middle, worn portions removed, and the remainder dyed or tinted in attractive pastel shades before the garments are cut out and made.
The resulting teen-age clothes usually make both mother and daughter happy, providing attractive new garments with no dents in the budget.

Danielson-Ristau Rites Performed In Valley Church

Hessel Valley Lutheran church at Chandelers Valley was the scene of a pretty June wedding at 3 p. m. Saturday, June 30th, when Marjorie Grace Danielson, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett C. Danielson, and William Howard Ristau, petty officer first class, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ristau, of Warren, were united in marriage by the Rev. Constant Johnson, of the First Lutheran church, Jamestown, N. Y.
Lighted candles and baskets of garden flowers decorated the altar. Preceding and during the ceremony, appropriate music was played by Lillian Anderson, violinist of Chandelers Valley, and Everett Landin, pianist of Sugar Grove.
The maid of honor was Margaret Erickson, of Jamestown, a W.C.A. Hospital classmate of the bride, who was gown in blue chiffon and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and baby's breath.
Groomsmen were his cousin, Emil Ristau, of Warren, as best man, with his brother, Gordon Ristau, and Carl A. Brown, of Jamestown, uncle of the bride, as ushers.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with train, fitted bodice which buttoned down the back, and long sleeves coming to points over the hands. Her fingertip veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and her bride's bouquet was of white roses and baby's breath with a center of gardenias.
The bride's mother wore black with white accessories and Mrs. Ristau wore navy blue, each with a corsage of red roses. Her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Grace Brown, wore blue with a corsage of pink roses.
A reception for 50 guests followed at the Danielson home, where the bride's table was decorated with lighted candles and a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Aides were Mary L. Hoyt, of Jamestown, another classmate of the bride, and Marian Anderson, of Chandelers Valley, with the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. Henry Swanson, of Jamestown, pouring.
The newlyweds left for a short wedding trip, the bride wearing rose crepe and white accessories. Mrs. Ristau is a graduate of Sugar Grove High School and W.C.A. Hospital School of Nursing, in 1941, and is now on the hospital staff. P. O. Ristau is a graduate of Warren High School and has just returned after 19 months in the South Pacific area. He will report to Davisville, R. I. for further assignment at the expiration of his 30-day leave.
Following the rehearsal Friday night, a luncheon was given by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Burt Schoonover, at Sugar Grove, with appointments carried out in red, white and blue.

Camp Birdsall Edey News

By TUX—Camp Mascot

Just as I had become acquainted with all the Brownie Scouts, the week was gone and it was time for them to leave and a new group to come in. Fourteen girls stayed over so I have some old friends with the new ones.
We welcomed two new counselors this weekend, also, Miss Mabelle Myers, whom the girls named Happy last year, and Miss Dorothy LeMahieu arrived. They both like dogs so I am sure they are all right. I shall tell you more about them when I know them better.
The big news won't keep any longer. Tonight, I had a large juicy, crunchy bone for dinner, the first for several weeks. The girls all had beef stew with vegetables. I can't understand how they can prefer that and chocolate cake with thick frosting to a delicious bone.
Something is in the air that I have not been told about and I am not going to ask right out, but whenever counselors get together or when counselors and girls are talking together, I hear August 4th mentioned. I thought they were making a mistake and meant July 4th, but when I heard so many of them say August 4th that it must be right. Whatever it is must be exciting because their voices sound all thrilling when they talk, the way people sound when they say, "See 'em, Tux."
I can't understand some folks. Now those Beavers have two little kittens in the homestead and they won't let me chase them. What are cats good for but to chase? One kitten was in a play Saturday night. It was the gray one and Karen Stohl carried it.
That was a good play, but Hickory missed it. Someone said "Never mind. You will see it on August 4th." I wonder why August 4th rather than the 3rd or the 6th.
The town crier tonight was Marybelle Carr. Everyone just waits for the town crier after dinner. When she comes in ringing a big bell, everyone leans forward and listens to the news of all of the units.

The rain didn't spoil the Brownies plans today at all. They swam and they said the water was not cold. I can't see why they won't let me go in the pool. What is the use of being a cocker spaniel if you can't swim? I can paddle in the brook and that feels good on a hot day.
This morning it was raining and the first day in camp for the new group so I thought they wouldn't be doing very much. I went over to the playhouse to stretch out in comfort and sleep a bit, but there was Tommy with a group of Pixies practicing a play. I went to the craft house but there was Happy with the Gnomes working on designs for luncheon sacks. I forgot about being sleepy and I tried to work out a design for my luncheon set using two bone dog biscuits and a round one, but it was too stiff. Tonight at dinner, I decided that a stylized beef bone will make a lovely design. I shall make it tomorrow.
We kept hearing sounds from the Elf cabin. I ran up to investigate and I found that the were having a rhythm band. Turbi was helping them. The cymbals hurt my ears but the girls enjoyed it.
Twed is now librarian and she called me in to show me a lovely book about a cocker spaniel to night. There was one book about dogs but there were two stories about cats. I don't understand it when twice as many people like dogs as like cats. The Brownies certainly must like to read because nearly every girl checked out a book.
When we checked up at dinner tonight, we found that we had two counselors from Kansas, one from Wisconsin, one from California, two from New York, one from Virginia, and the balance are from six different towns and cities in Pennsylvania. I wonder how they all found out about Camp Birdsall Edey.
When I find out more about August 4th, I'll let you know. There is certainly something afoot that is even more important than the 4th of July and plans for that sound as though the Brownies will have more fun here at camp than they could have at home. I'll tell you about that next time.

Indies Score Three Times In Ninth Frame to Top Ashville Outfit, 6 to 5; All-Stars Next

A bunt down the first base line by Ray Reed scoring pitcher Bob Schussler gave the Warren Independents their second victory of the season yesterday on a close, 5-5 win over Ashville.

The Indies were trailing 5-3 going into the final half of the ninth frame, but sent three tallies across to win.

Excellent fielding, with the exception of three errors, behind the pitching of veteran Bobby Schussler enabled the newly-formed team for Warren youth to decision a strong and almost flawless Chautauqua league leader. Schussler eight hits while striking out six batters and walking only two. The Indies moved out in front in the second frame when Steve Massa laid a bunt down the first base line, scoring Dean Wittaker who got on base on an error. Ashville came back strong in their half of the third with a three-run spurt. The first two men up singled, Crandall scoring on Don Morse's double, Davis going home on Peabody's one-bagger, and Morse going home with the third when Bill Massa muffed a hard grounder down second base.

In the sixth Joe Massa led off with a smash triple to right field, scoring on Whittaker's fielder's choice. Whittaker came in to tie the score at three apiece when Karl Morse booted a hot grounder at third.

Ashville went ahead in the first of the seventh with a two-run spurt and held a 5-3 margin going into the last of the final frame, when the locals tallied three times to wind up the ball game.

Lopez walked, and went to second on an error. Steve Massa, second man up, also walked leading first and second. Gib Knupp, substitute catcher pinch-hitting for Don Gheres, lammed out a line single to score Whittaker, Massa getting caught between second and third as Knupp went to second.

Schussler walked to again put men on first and second. Mill Martin came up with his second hit of the game to score Knupp as Schussler went to third, setting up the bunt play. Ray Reed, 16-year-old high school senior, laid down a perfect bunt down the first base line as Schussler came home with the winning run.

Next Sunday at Russell Field, the Indies tackle the powerful Joey Nagle's New York All-Stars, who defeated the National Forge, 7-4, early in the season but took a 5-4 loss several weeks ago.

St. Joe's Tops Sylvania, 16-4, On South Side

The St. Joseph's and Sylvania softball teams opened the community Fourth of July celebration with a bang last night at the South Side playground, the Catholic boys clinching a 16-4 win over the bulbmakers before the largest attraction of the year.

Chuck Denardi went the distance for the winners, limiting Sylvania to seven hits as his mates slammed out 22 hits off Olsen. Highlighting the contest were round trippers by Don Gheres and "Zeke" Galneck, neither with men on base.

The Catholics sent home a single score in the first, adding four more in the second to take a 5-0 lead. Sylvania came back in the third to score three, but from then until the seventh, when Sylvania scored their final tally, the YMCA-Church league leaders held full control, having only three scoreless innings in the ball game.

St. Joe's scored four each in the fourth and sixth frames, one in the seventh, and two in the ninth for a grand total of 16. Two walks and two fielder's choices gave Sylvania their fourth score in the last half of the seventh.

The St. Louis Cardinals are beginning to hit and that's bad news for the rest of the National League.

Topping yesterday's home run fest with 27 runs and 36 hits in a double decision over New York, the world champs are making a habit of double number hit totals, with an average of 12 safe blows per game in their last 19 starts.

Augie Bergamo was the big slugger of the majors' 4th of July celebration that exploded 22 home runs, 11 in each league, into banner turnouts of 209,035 paying customers. The Cardinal outfielder hit two round trippers, one with the sacks loaded, and battered New York pitching for a total of eight safeties and nine runs batted in for a day he'll never forget.

Ray Sanders and Eustace Adams helped Charley Barrett to an 8-4 victory by smashing circuit clouts in the first game rout of Bill Voiselle and two successors, but Bergamo was the little man with the wallop who made Bud Byerly's second game breeze a 19-2 picnic.

Both the Cards and Chicago Cubs, who trimmed Boston twice, 5-3 and 7-6, closed in on Brooklyn, whose lead was clipped to 3½ lengths in a split with Cincinnati.

Bill Nicholson of the Bruins unloaded a pair of homers to help Hy Vandenberg take the decision over Bob Logan in the finale after Logan had failed as a starter in the opener.

Hal Gregg finally grabbed his 10th victory on the fourth try, becoming the first hurler to hit the mark in the National, as he tossed the Dodgers to a 5-3 edge in the afterpiece against Cincy. Bucky

Baptists Lose 12 to 10 Battle To Sylvania

A four-run seventh inning rally gave Sylvania its third win of the first round campaign of the YMCA Church softball league Tuesday night as they outpointed the Baptist outfit, 12-10.

Baptists held the advantage during the first six innings, scoring early in the game to move out in front. In the first, the losers collected five tallies. Sylvania retaliating in the second with a single run to make it 5-1. The Baptists made it 7-1 with single scores in the fourth and fifth. Sylvania moved closer with a five-run spurt in the last of the fifth frame.

Both teams scored two apiece in the sixth as Baptists held a 9-8 lead. Two walks of Baptists hurler Dick Harris, a couple of errors and two clean singles enabled Sylvania to move ahead in the first time in the game, 12-9. In the ninth, Baptists sent one run home and the third out was made by catching a runner going home.

Former Local Boy Is Named Corry Coach

Bob Lytle, former Warren boy, has been named head football coach at Corry High School for the coming season, according to an announcement by Corry athletic officials.

Lytle, a Warren High School graduate in 1935 and a graduate of Edinboro State Teachers' College in 1941, was head football and basketball mentor at Conneaut, Ohio, High School before his enlistment in the U. S. Marine Corps in April, 1944. Prior to that he was athletic head at Bessemer, Pa., High School.

Lytle played two years of varsity football and basketball for Warren in 1933-4. Following completion of high school and college studies, he entered the coaching field at the age of 25. After coaching two years at Bessemer and Conneaut, he enlisted in the marines, being assigned to officer's training school. He was discharged in the spring of 1945 due to a football injury received several years ago.

Lytle replaces John Tinson, who resigned to take up a post in the Louisville, Kentucky, and will begin his new duties in August.

However, the Laborite Daily Herald said:

"All indications are that today's poll will overwhelmingly confirm the swing to labor which, months before the campaign began, was freely admitted in Tory (Conservative) circles."

FORMER WARRENITE SAVES LAD IN LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Leary, credited with the life saving of a Chautauqua county lad at Maple Point, just off Sherman's Bay, on Sunday, reside at 200 Falconer street, Jamestown, and are former Warren residents.

The Learys were sitting on the shore when they noted the lad, Raymond Noyd, 15, in trouble in the water. Mr. Leary took to the water in an attempt to rescue the youth, but became locked in a stranglehold which the young man clamped about his neck.

Mrs. Leary then took a boat to the scene and rescued both her husband and the nearly-drowned youth. The rescue squad from the Lakewood fire department administered oxygen to Mr. Leary, who described as "all in but not unconscious".

Motorists should be doubly alert during these hours, let nothing distract your attention from your job of driving and always be ready for a quick stop.

GIVEN REMINDER

Military personnel attached to posts in Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia—particularly those returned from overseas service—were enjoined today by the Third Service Command to "conduct themselves courteously toward military, and civilian police, and to maintain standards of discipline and courtesy to which they have been accustomed." Brig Gen T. B. Catron, Service Command chief of staff, declaring there had been a few incidents recently "indicative of an attitude of disregard" on the part of officers and enlisted men toward police authorities, reminded Army personnel of the tri-state area that military police were the "direct representatives" of the military authority discipline and order. Likewise, he said civil police are the representatives of "duly constituted authority" to maintain law and order in civil communities.

Busy as a Little Bee

Helge Johnson, Joliet, Ill., had a honey of a job on his hands when he found a city ordinance provided a stinging fine of $1 to $10 for each day that each of his 400,000 bees were loose in the town. Equipped with a head net, Johnson is shown rounding up his colony for a bee-line shipment out of Joliet.
